PROJECT CONSULTING

Impact Ag service offerings for investors

Project Consulting

Impact Ag covers all aspects of agricultural investment development and feasibility; on-farm operational and administrative management; development and management of vertically integrated supply chains; and the provision and utilisation of industry research and advice.

Project consulting is a collaborative process between the client and Impact Ag team, with service agreements for specific 'one off' projects including:

- Rural business expansion and valuation
- Acquisition of additional assets as part of a rural business portfolio
- Understanding of the potential risks / returns associated with structural changes within a rural business model (inclusion of alternative livestock type / livestock class / genetics or production system)
- Productive and cash-flow impact of a significant investment in infrastructure within a rural business
- Management of statutory governance, compliance, audit and accounts functions

Utilising its in-depth productive and financial experience in advising and managing a diverse range of livestock supply chain businesses, Impact Ag appropriates a series of tailored financial tools that provide investors with a detailed insight into the risks and returns associated with their agribusiness investment.

Impact Ag has a proven track record in the development, management and improvement of agribusiness investments on behalf of new or existing investors/producers, and leverages its financial and technical expertise to develop and implement customised investment solutions on behalf of its customers.
